

HEALTH & SOCIAL CARE

READ

WHEN STUDENTS OF HEALTH AND SOCIAL STUDIES READ THEY:

- Ask 'why' more than 'what'.
- Seek to consider the impact of scenarios on individuals and health care providers.
- Consider how people are impacted by changes in services and legislation.
- Try to understand from the viewpoints of people with different perspectives and needs.

WRITE

WHEN STUDENTS OF HEALTH AND SOCIAL STUDIES WRITE THEY:

- Establish the merits and drawbacks of different options for individuals and providers.
- Fully explain how and why things happen and what the impact is.
- Provide a balanced argument with clear links to legislation and codes of practice.
- Demonstrate empathy and understanding.

THINK

WHEN STUDENTS OF HEALTH AND SOCIAL STUDIES THINK THEY:

- Aim to solve problems.
- Understand the needs of individuals.
- Consider why individuals, providers and government act in the ways they do.
- Consider the merits and drawbacks of different solutions.
